Pathfinder: Directional Conversion Wheel

The reconnaissance phase of surveying and forestry operations is a preliminary of the general geological features and characteristics of a region. However, this process is currently inefficient, as it relies on either vulnerable technology or guesswork, and requires continuous mental math.

This simple analog tool is a reliable, convenient and durable wheelchart that streamlines the reconnaissance process. It is a new product that is especially useful in the classroom and can familiarize future surveyors with the same piece of equipment that can fully integrate into a wide variety of trades where land surveyance and geological observation is required.

SIMPLE

Easy-to-read instructions and simplifies understanding of secular change.

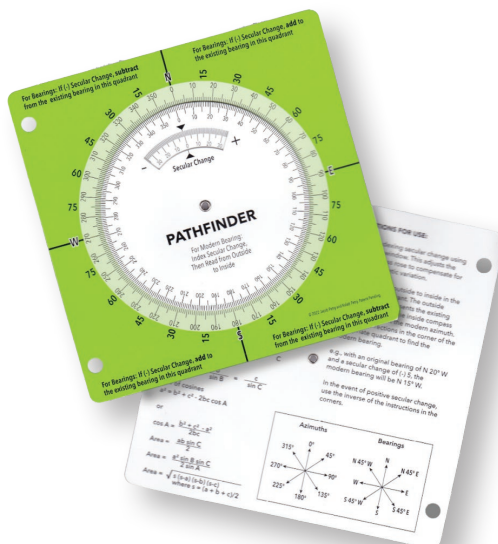

TEACHING AID

Helps students grasp one of the most challenging initial concepts in land surveying education.

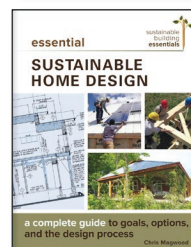

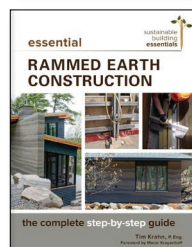

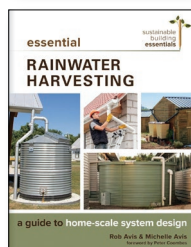

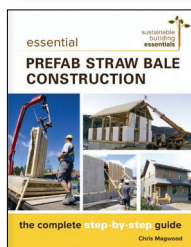

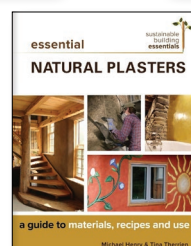

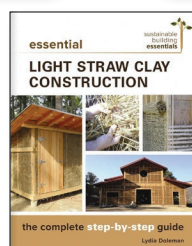

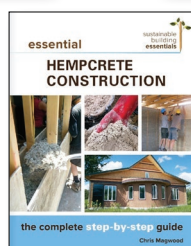

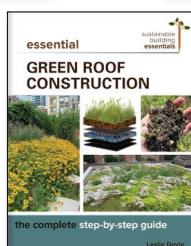

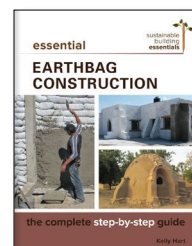

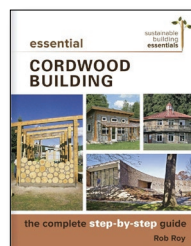

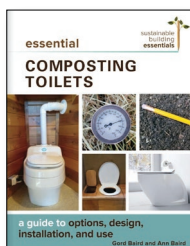

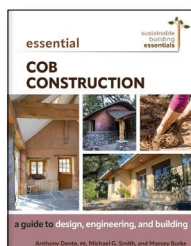

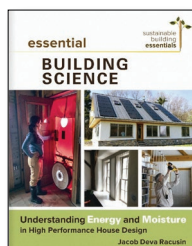

CONVENIENT

Portable shape & size 5.5 x 5.5. Hole punched, fits easily in pouches, folders, clipboards, etc.
